

Franciscan Mission Service

Executive Director

Reports to: Board of Directors
Location: Washington, D.C.

About Franciscan Mission Service

Mission Statement

As followers of Christ in the Franciscan tradition, Franciscan Mission Service (FMS) builds partnerships with Catholic women and men who are inspired to live and serve in solidarity with economically poor communities across the globe – and to bring the transformative experience of mission to North American societies and churches as advocates for peace, justice, reconciliation, and care of creation.

Core Statement

These seven statements identify the core belief system from which we operate. They define the “soul” of FMS and inspire the work that we do.

- We have faith in the transforming power of Christ’s love in the world.
- We believe the world is a graced place.
- We believe in the absolute and fundamental dignity of each individual and creation.
- We embrace Catholic Social Teaching as central to our faith and service.
- We have confidence in the wisdom of poor communities.
- We engage in a mission of presence, accompaniment, and advocacy.
- We believe strong theological and cross-cultural training leads to respectful and effective mission service.

History

Franciscan Mission Service came into existence in 1985 at the request of a group of North American Franciscan friars (OFM) who felt called to offer lay people the opportunity to experience international mission in the spirit of Saints Francis and Clare.

Brother Anselm Moons, FMS founder, believed deeply in the role of laity in the church. The first lay missionaries went overseas in 1990 and since that time FMS has trained, commissioned, and supported more than 130 men and women for service in: Bolivia, Bosnia, Brazil, Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Jamaica, Kenya, Namibia, Nicaragua, Peru, Siberia, South Africa, Tanzania, Thailand, the Philippines, Zambia, and Zimbabwe.

In 2009 FMS started offering service opportunities in Washington, D.C. through the Nonprofit Servant Leadership Program (originally named the “Domestic Volunteer Program”). FMS has since had about 20 young adult Catholics serve, live in intentional community, incorporate the Franciscan charism into their life and faith, and deepen their understanding and commitment to mission.

About the Position

The Executive Director provides the day-to-day leadership and management of the organization from the FMS office in Washington, D.C. near Catholic University of America, focusing on the implementation of established FMS vision and goals in support of program priorities. These include recruiting, training, monitoring, and supporting overseas lay missionaries in service throughout the world and fostering an ongoing relationship with returned missionaries in the needs of the Church and wider society within the United States.
