STEWARDSHIP THOUGHT

The blind man was willing to let Jesus minister to him and willingly did all Jesus asked of him. The Pharisees were more resistant to His message, spending their time and energy to disprove the miracle. Which am I more like, the man born blind or the Pharisees?

Recognizing Our Ushers

In each church, we have a group of men and women who seem to thrive on service. They are there to greet and assist you when you arrive. They can direct you to your pew, or to the social events, or to coat racks, and even restrooms. They help you find things, sometimes lost children. And they know where the garbage baskets are. We ask our ushers to guide you from your pew when you come up for Communion. They can assist you when you need it or lift up your kneeler when you have to use a cane, a walker, or a young child. If you cannot come up for Communion tell the usher and they will let the priest or other Eucharistic ministers know. They will stand beside you so they know you will receive Communion. And then at the end of Mass they straighten up the church. Our ushers do a lot so when you see them please give them a word of thanks. You are appreciated! Fr Ed

Debbi M.

From Franciscan Mission Service (FMS): Our own Anna Klonowski left for South America in February. I have recently received an update from the Franciscan Mission Communications Manager Kim. Thought I (Debbi M.) would share it with all of you.
Message:

Twenty-two year old Anna Klonowski arrived in South American in February knowing that she will discover many skills during the two years she will spend volunteering in Cochabamba, Bolivia. She did already find a new ability during her training period with FMS. "I am apparently very good at making a peanut butter and jelly bagel sandwich," she chuckled after her three-month formation period in Washington, DC. "I've been told so numerous times."

Sandwich making for those living on the streets is just one part of the program's focus on serving those on the margins and living out the Franciscan value of simplicity. FMS is a nonprofit that prepares and supports lay Catholics desiring to serve in solidarity with economically poor communities. The FMS version of mission is the ministry of presence, which involves accompanying people "in the joys and struggles of their daily lives." For instance, Anna perfected her touch with peanut butter and jelly during the direct service portion of her training, which she spent at The Father McKenna Center, which helps men escape the cycle of poverty and homelessness.

While on mission, Anna will immerse herself in the joys and challenges of her host community, living on a stipend $265 a month, accompanying those who are in need, and sharing in cultural and religious celebrations – all while speaking another language. Anna is fluent in Spanish and hopes to learn some Quechua, an indigenous language common in the region. Anna looks for prayers in support of her mission, but asks that people not forget the community she will be joining. "The focus of simple living isn't about what I don't have, but rather the space I am creating for relationships with my community and personal growth," she says.

A current member of St. Joseph's Parish, Anna recalls the spiritual impact of her schooling at St. Joseph Catholic School in Rice Lake. "I graduated from St. Joe's in 2008 but, the lessons I learned have stayed with me and have influenced the path of my life. One such lesson was to love as Jesus loved, which inspired me to say 'yes' to God's call in my life to join FMS and live in solidarity with people experiencing poverty in Bolivia." Growing up, she played several roles at her church, including member of the youth choir, altar server, and Eucharistic minister.

Anna's service with FMS is in line with her bachelor's degrees in majors in Hispanic Studies and Theology from the College of St.
Benedict, where she graduated summa cum laude and received encouragement to pursue her hopes for a long-term overseas placement. She also developed as a volunteer during her college years, providing tutoring in English as a second language and acting as a counselor for faith-based ministries. Two previous overseas experiences, a two-week Spanish immersion experience with the college of Saint Benedict and her study abroad in Xela, Guatemala, inspired her to make a two-year commitment as an overseas volunteer.

End of Message.

Anna's ministry is based upon her values of respect, service, and faith. God bless not only her, but, her family, her friends and all the people of our parish faith community that touched and helped shape her life. She is so grateful for your prayers and those who were financially able to support her mission that came forward. Bolivia is blessed with her work and we are blessed with her presence as a member of our Christian Faith! We continue to pray for ANNA!

DIVINE MERCY MINUTES

Pope John Paul II, motivated by a desire to foster devotion to the Divine Mercy, and to insure the faithful would observe this day with intense devotion, granted a Plenary Indulgence under the usual three conditions:

-RECONCILIATION – may be received any time during Lent through Divine Mercy Sunday.

-EUCHARIST – must be received on Divine Mercy Sunday.

-PRAY – Our Father, Hail Mary, and Glory Be for the intentions of our Holy Father – must be prayed on Divine Mercy Sunday.

*** In addition, according to the Diary of St. Faustina,
Our Lord specifically asked that the Chaplet of Divine Mercy be recited as a NOVENA the nine days before Divine Mercy Sunday, beginning on Good Friday.

"By this NOVENA, I will grant every possible grace to souls."

Fourth Sunday of Lent

In the entire Bible from Genesis in the Old Testament through the Gospel of John, the incident reported in John 9, the Gospel Reading on this Fourth Sunday of Lent, the restoration of sight to the blind man is the only instance of a blind person since birth being healed. No other prophet or apostle or priest ever performed such a miracle.

Isaiah the prophet had predicted "The eyes of blind will be opened" (Isaiah 35:5) in his prophecies of the Messiah. Of course, we need to understand that the "eyes of the blind will be opened" has a double meaning. Yes, the blind man can see, but he can also understand and comprehend what Jesus' saving grace means.

This time during Lent is a time for us to open our eyes as well. We need to see and to embrace the fact that Jesus is our Savior and Redeemer. To see we need light. In the Second Reading from St. Paul's Letter to the Ephesians, Paul says, "Live as children of light, for light produces every kind of goodness and righteousness and truth."

Is that not what our whole purpose in Lent is? To seek the light; to find an understanding of the Lord's place in our lives; to open our eyes, and to become Disciples of the Lord? We often make reference to the fact that we are called to be disciples. What does that mean? According to Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI, it meant, "Do not keep Christ to yourselves. Share with others the joy of your faith. The world needs the witness of your faith; it surely needs God."

FOURTH SUNDAY OF LENT

See into Our Hearts

Father Almighty,
you who have blessed our ancestors and anointed them with the oil of your Spirit;
who have given your grace and light to those in need and guided the hands of our leaders in faith.
See into our hearts today,
and find us ready to receive you, as you guided Samuel to recognize the Lord's chosen.
May we open our eyes to see you, and our hearts to accept you,
and may we find Christ in others as you guide us.
Teach us to know your ways,
to follow your path,
and to trust in your guidance.
We ask this through Christ our Lord.
Amen.

Healing Our Blindness

Today's Readings: 1 Samuel 16:1b, 6-7, 10-13a; Psalm 23:1-3a, 3b-4, 5, 6; Ephesians 5:8-14; John 9:1-41. The Gospel passage for today tells the story of a man being healed of his blindness. However, the exchanges between the man and Jesus and those among onlookers all reveal the many deeper meanings of this account. To be relieved of blindness in our lives is challenging for us. It is so much easier to continue in blindness than to allow ourselves to be healed. Even at the end of the Gospel passage, some of the Pharisees ask, "Surely we are not also blind, are we?" They may well be revealing our thoughts.

This is the day and the season to ask that question about our blindness, and to find a way to "see." Find where you are blind, and seek a way to wash away the blindness. Take some time to find where Jesus is pointing out the path to healing for you. Go to the same prayerful space each day, as did the blind man, and pray and wait. Name your blindness, and in naming, perhaps find ways you can wash it clean. Find another person, as did the witnesses in the Gospel, to discuss this blind spot of yours and do not blame another for your loss of sight.

We are reminded that being blind leaves us in the dark, both literally and figuratively, but also that Jesus is our Light. Jesus tells the blind man to wash in the pool at that moment. It is Jesus who points out that his path is where our blindness might be washed away so that we may see. Often we are not completely healed in one moment, but the revealing light is gradually revealed to us. Lent provides an opportunity to focus more intently on healing our blindness, and seeing more of the Light. As we proceed through Lent, we should pray that our eyes are opened.

THIS WEEK AT HOME

Monday, March 27

Remember When

In today's Gospel passage, John reminds us that we often recognize the truth, the Christ, or God's grace, only after the fact. Jesus leaves Galilee only to return, and yet many are still skeptical. Today, spend time in prayer not only looking forward, but remembering when God's grace was given without notification. Learn to slow down and appreciate the presence of Christ in the things of beauty that you see daily. Today's Readings: Isaiah 65:17-21; Psalm 30:2 and 4, 5-6, 11-12a, 13b; John 4:43-54.

Tuesday, March 28

Life-Giving Water

Both readings today speak of an abundance of water that is both fruitful and healing. Such is our baptismal water, giving us life again and again, and cleansing us. Throughout Lent, we are reminded that our Baptism continues to be our source of life, health, faith, and spiritual nourishment. In your Lenten prayer space, include a small bowl of baptismal water as a reminder of what your Lenten practices are renewing within you. Today's Readings: Ezekiel 47:1-9, 12; Psalm 46:2-3, 4-5, 8-9; John 5:1-16.

Wednesday, March 29

Mercy to the Afflicted

Isaiah proclaims a day of salvation that is one of compassion, mercy, pity, and comfort. These are the signs of the Lord's favor. As we proceed through Lent, we should consider the place that compassion and mercy have in our lives. The Lord comforts his people and so must we. Perhaps today you might be more intentional about recognizing the needs of another and responding appropriately. Today's Readings: Isaiah 49:8-15; Psalm 145:8-9, 13cd-14, 17-18; John 5:17-30.

Thursday, March 30

The Faith of Moses

Today, in all three readings, Exodus, Psalm 106, and John, we hear about the faith and strong belief of Moses. His belief in God saved the people from destruction on more than one occasion. He pleads with the Lord to relent in punishing his stiff-necked people. If only our faith could be that firm, that secure. Today's Readings: Exodus 32:7-14; Psalm 106:19-20, 21-22, 23; John 5:31-47.

Friday, March 31

A Recompense of Holiness

In today's readings, we hear that the wicked not only are blinded by their evil ways but that they do not know how to recognize God's holiness in their midst. In our fast-paced world, we often miss holiness as well. Consider how holiness has been apparent in, perhaps, a kind word from a store clerk, a gentle hand holding you back from oncoming traffic, or a child putting away the dishes without being asked. How have you let your holiness shine forth to others? Today's Readings: Wisdom 2:1a, 12-22; Psalm 34:17-18, 19-20, 21 and 23; John 7:1-2, 10, 25-30.

Saturday, April 1

Opening Ourselves to Others

In today's Gospel, some are not open to Christ because they have a preconceived idea of who the Messiah will be. Lent is a time for penitence and introspection. We need to consider how often we jump to conclusions about someone without first discovering who they are. The readings today remind us to hear people's stories and consider their situations and experiences. Doing so will open us to their goodness. Today's Readings: Jeremiah 11:18-20; Psalm 7:2-3, 9bc-10, 11-12; John 7:40-53.
